GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Nashville, April 25, 1861. }

*Gentlemen of the Senate,
and House of Representatives:*

THE President of the United States—elected according to the forms of the Constitution, but upon principles openly hostile to its provisions—having wantonly inaugurated an internecine war upon the people of the slave and non-slaveholding States, I have convened you again at the seat of Government, for the purpose of enabling you to take such action as will most likely contribute to the defence of our rights, the preservation of our liberties, the sovereignty of the State, and the safety of our people; all of which are now in imminent peril by the usurpations of the authorities at Washington, and the unscrupulous fanaticism which runs riot throughout the Northern States.

The war thus inaugurated is likely to assume an importance, nearly, if not equal, to the struggle of our revolutionary fathers, in their patriotic efforts to resist the usurpations and throw off the tyrannical yoke of the English Government; a war the duration of which, and the good or evil which must result from it, depends entirely, in my judgment, upon the readiness with which citizens of the South harmonize as one people, and the alacrity with which they respond to the demands of patriotism.

I do not think it necessary to recapitulate, at this late hour, the long train of abuses to which the people of Tennessee, and our sister States of the South, have been subjected by the anti-republican spirit that has for many years been manifesting itself in that section, and which has at last declared itself our open and avowed enemy. In the message which I addressed to you at your called session in January last, these things were somewhat elaborately referred to, as constituting, in my judgment, the amplest reason for considering ourselves in imminent danger, and as requiring such action on the part of the Legislature as would place the State in an attitude for defence, whenever the momentous crisis should be forced upon us; and, also, as presenting to the North the strongest argument for peace, and, if possible, securing a reconstruction of the Union, thus already dissolved by the most authoritative, formal, and matured action of a portion of the slaveholding States. Minor differences upon abstract questions—the ardent devotion of our people to the preservation of the Union, originating with their great loyalty to the Government—and a more hopeful view of the subject than I had been able to take, coupled with the supposed peaceful intentions of the authorities at Washington, have resulted in leaving the State poorly prepared for the sad realities which are now upon us.

But unfortunate as this may be, I am nevertheless encouraged with the belief that we are at last, practically, a united people. Whatever differences may have heretofore existed amongst us, growing out of party divisions, as to the right of Secession as a Constitutional remedy against Federal usurpation, all admit the moral right asserted by our fathers, of each and every people to resist wrong, and to maintain their liberties by whatever means may be necessary; “that Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, and that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of the ends for which it was created, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as shall to them seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness.” Standing by this common sentiment, with the bloody and tyrannical policy of the Presidential usurper fully before us; in the face of his hordes of armed soldiery, marching to the work of Southern subjugation; the people of the proud Commonwealth of Tennessee—true to their honor, true to the great principles of free institutions, true to the lessons of their fathers, and true to their brethren of the South, the subjects of a common oppression—have united, almost with one voice, in declaring their fixed resolve to resist the tyrant; and in pledging their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor to the maintenance of their rights, and the rights of their sister States of the South.

It cannot be overlooked that, in assuming an attitude of this character—forced upon us by the remarkable exigency of the times—we are, in effect, dissolving our connection with the Federal Union. As established by our fathers, that Union no longer exists. However much we may have cherished it heretofore, no intelligent and candid man can deny that it has ceased to be a blessing, and has become a curse; that it is no longer a high and sacred means of protection, but an engine of oppression; that it has ceased to be a bond of brotherhood, and has become a hateful connection between communities at war. It would be idle, therefore, to speak of ourselves any longer as members of the Federal Union; and while it is believed by many, whose opinions are entitled to the highest respect, that, by reason of the subversion of the Constitution by the authorities in power, inaugurating a revolution between the States thereof, each and every individual is already released from his former obligations to that government, yet, as best comporting with the dignity of the subject, and also from a due regard to those who may hold a different opinion—and farther still, that all the world may be advised of our action—I respectfully suggest that our connection with the Federal Union be formally annulled in such manner as shall involve the highest exercise of sovereign authority by the people of the State, and best secure that harmony, so much to be desired, in times like the present, upon questions even of mere detail. Until this is done, many conscientious citizens may feel embarrassed in their action from their supposed relation to the General Government. In emergencies like the present, while it is our duty to act with due deliberation and prudence, unbiased as far as possible by excitement or prejudice, it is nevertheless of the highest importance that we should act with promptitude and decision.

Whatever grounds of hope may have been supposed to exist heretofore for an adjustment of the difficulties between the two sections of the Federal Union; however anxious we may have been to continue members of the same common family with the people of the North, such hope and expectation no longer exists in the mind of any rational man, who desires to maintain the honor and equality of the State, and the inviolability of her peculiar institutions.

The present administration, elected upon avowed purposes of hostility to the South—purposes which all knew then as well as now, could not be carried into effect, without an internecine war and a dissolution of the Union—has exerted every energy, resorted to every strategy, and disregarded every constitutional barrier, in order to hasten the accomplishment of the unholy mission for which the people of the Northern section had elevated it to power. They have lost no time—they have neither hesitated nor faltered. The low duplicity in which their Administration was inaugurated—trusting, while conceding nothing, to lull the South into a fatal security, furnishing ground for divisions in the border slave States, while constant though secret preparation for the work of subjugation was going on, is now exposed, and leaves us no alternative but independence out of the Union, or subjugation in it. The dishonorable and treacherous practices which have so far characterized the authorities at Washington, admonish us, that in the impending struggle we are scarcely to expect the rules of honorable warfare. Having its origin in a disordered moral sentiment of the North—not finding the ordinary restraints of patriotism among their people—deriving its power from a usurpation and perversion of the functions of government—having no middle ground short of positive subjugation of the South, or a defeat which exposes its disgrace to the civilized world—I fear the time has passed when peace can be hoped for by the mere moral force of a united South, without a trial of arms. Having succeeded in confusing and dividing the border slave States, they have had ample time for military preparations. The veil which concealed their recent movements has been thrown aside. The note of war has been sounded, and in the imperial proclamation recently issued, the people of the Confederate States, and all who sympathize with them, are treated as rebels, and twenty days allowed them to “disperse” and return to their allegiance to the authorities at Washington. Without waiting for the expiration of the twenty days, in addition to the regular army and naval forces, a militia force of seventy-five thousand has been called into the field to execute this edict, by the power of arms. As if purposely intended to add additional insult to the people of Tennessee, I have been called upon, as their Governor, to furnish a portion of these troops. I have answered that demand as in my judgment became the honor of the State, and leave the people to pass upon my action.

The Federal Union of the States, thus practically dissolved, can never be restored; or if ever thus restored, it must, by the very act, cease to be a Union of free and independent States, such as our fathers established. It will become a consolidated, centralized Government, without liberty or equality, in which some will reign and others serve—the few tyrannize, and the many suffer. It would be the greatest folly to hope for the reconstruction of a peaceful Union, upon terms of fraternity and equality, at the end of an internecine war. There can be no desirable Union without fraternity. And if we could not have that, before the unholy crusade which is now being waged against us, we cannot have it after they shall have wantonly imbrued their unholy hands in the innocent blood of our people, from no worthier motive than a desire to destroy our equality and subvert our liberties.

Therefore, I respectfully recommend the perfecting of an Ordinance by the General Assembly, formally declaring the Independence of the State of Tennessee of the Federal Union, renouncing its authority, and reassuming each and every function belonging to a separate sovereignty; and that said Ordinance, when it shall have been thus perfected by the Legislature, shall, at the earliest practicable time, be submitted to a vote of the people, to be by them adopted or rejected.

When the people of the State shall formally declare their connection with the remaining States of the Union dissolved, it will be a matter of the highest expediency—I might almost say of unavoidable political necessity—that we shall at the same time, or as soon thereafter as may be, connect ourselves with those with whom a common interest, a common sympathy, and a common destiny identify us, for weal or for woe. That each of the Southern States, as they throw off their connection with the Federal Government, should take an independent position in the contest, without that concert of action which alone can be secured by political unity, is a proposition which surely no one will assent to, who anticipates the dangers of the hour and the necessity of perfecting harmony in the work of our general defence.

Such a political Union with the people of the Confederate States is rendered essential, by the fact, that we have made no provision for arming, organizing, provisioning, and embodying our military forces, while the Government of the Confederate States, foreseeing this invasion, has had an eye to the necessities of the emergency, and stands prepared generously to lend us its assistance in this unprovoked and cruel struggle. If we accept that assistance, we should do it in a spirit of mutual trust and confidence, prepared to share its burdens equally, while we avail ourselves of its advantages. A Government thus perfectly organized can more thoroughly command the resources and aggregate the revenues of the country, than isolated States, fighting without unity, and moving without a common and responsible head. These resources, being thus concentrated, because it is natural intuition to rally round such a Government, in such an emergency, for self-preservation and defence, can be disbursed with more efficiency, and with less cost to the people, than when the revenues, necessary to support the war, are scattered by divided counsels, and not controlled by a common bureau. The same may be said with regard to military operations. Unity of movement, to secure unity of purpose in attack or defence, is absolutely necessary to success. The people of the whole South, thus united by a firm political compact, moving under the direction of one Government, and animated by the sense of common perils and by a unanimous determination to maintain their rights, liberties, and institutions, are invincible, and must speedily conquer an honorable peace. The war must necessarily be protracted or brief in proportion to the union among themselves.

I, therefore, further recommend that you perfect an ordinance, with a view to our admission as a member of the Southern Confederacy, (which, it is evident, must soon embrace the entire slaveholding States of the South,) to be submitted in like manner, and at the same time, but separately, for adoption or rejection by the people; so that they may have the opportunity to approve the former and reject the latter, or adopt both, as in their wisdom may seem most consistent with the future welfare of the State. However fully satisfied the Executive and Legislature may be, as to the urgent necessity for the speedy adoption of both these propositions, it is our duty to furnish the amplest means for a fair and full expression of the popular will.

In the opening of a revolution, fraught with such consequences, and the close of which no one can foresee, it is a matter of the highest moment that we determine, as speedily as possible, our future political relations, delaying only long enough to reach the will and voice of the people. Under existing circumstances, I can see no propriety for encumbering the people of the State with the election of delegates, to do that which it is in your power to enable them to do directly for themselves. The most direct, as well as the highest act of sovereignty, according to our theory, is that by which the people vote, not merely for men, but for measures submitted for their approval or rejection. Since it is only the voice of the people that is to be heard, there is no reason why they may not as readily and effectively express themselves upon an ordinance framed and submitted to them by the Legislature, as if submitted to them by a Convention. The Southern States, all of whom are now engaged in resistance to the encroachment of Abolition power, will necessarily encounter embarrassments, arising from a want of unity of action, until such time as they shall all be united under a common Government.

The mode of action suggested, in addition to the advantage of its being the speediest of all others, will be attended with less expense to the State, which is of far greater importance now than at any former period of our history, owing to the general embarrassment of the people, which must continue at least during these troubles, and to the heavy appropriations that you will have necessarily to make to defray the expense of our defences.

If, however, it should be deemed advisable that a Convention, representing the sovereignty of the people, should be called by the General Assembly, in preference to submitting an ordinance of independence directly to them, though I deem the latter measure more expedient, under the circumstances, I am not prepared to say that harmony and unanimity will not thus be effected. The Senators and Representatives, coming, as they do, directly from their constituents, are the best judges of this measure. It cannot be regarded other than a question of detail, inasmuch as a very large majority of the people regard themselves as being forever absolved from all obedience to a Government that has developed the coldest and most deliberate purpose to inaugurate a civil and sanguinary war among them.

I deem it proper to remark in this connection, that the Constitution of the Confederate States, while it retains all that is valuable of the Constitution of the former United States, is an improvement, in many essential points, upon that instrument, as conceded by those even who were unfriendly to the mode and manner in which it originated.

The only additional matter to which I shall call your attention—and first in importance—is the necessity of such legislation as will put the State upon a war footing immediately. I will not insult your intelligence or question your patriotism so far as to resort to argument to prove the necessity of this measure, but content myself by recommending the passage of a law regulating the raising and thorough organization of an efficient volunteer force for immediate service, in any emergency which may arise, and a thorough and perfect organization of the militia, so that in case of necessity the whole force of the State can be speedily brought into action.

In my message to your extra session in January last, I laid before you the report of the Keeper of Public Arms, showing the number, character, and condition of the arms of the State, to which I refer you for information on that subject. Since that report was made, I have ordered and received at the arsenal fourteen hundred rifle muskets. If upon this subject further or more accurate information is desired, it shall be laid before you by the report of the proper officer.

It requires no argument from me to prove the absolute necessity of an immediate appropriation of a sum sufficient to thoroughly arm and equip such military force as the State may probably need in the prospective difficulties which lie before us. In addition to which, I respectfully recommend that you appropriate a sum sufficient to provision and maintain such force as is intended for the field, and an ample contingent military fund, to be subject to the order and disbursement of a Military Board, under such restrictions as you may see proper to impose.

The establishment of a Military Board, to consist of at least three persons, and invested with power to make all needful rules and regulations for organization and maintenance, I regard as indispensably necessary to a perfect military organization and equipment in the State; and the fact that the Legislature cannot foresee and provide for the various contingent expenses necessarily incidental to a state of war, justifies and makes necessary the contingent military fund referred to.

I trust, gentlemen, that I have not so far mistaken your intelligence and patriotism, as to render it necessary that I should invoke you, in the name of all that is sacred and dear to us as a people—even the sanctity of our domestic firesides—to forget past differences, and whatever may tend in the least to distract your counsels in the present momentous crisis, in which we have been involved by the unprovoked and tyrannical usurpation of a people who, forgetting the lessons of their fathers, have overthrown the fairest government upon earth, in the mere wantonness of an unnatural sectional prejudice amounting to sectional hate, and a disregard of those great principles of justice and equality upon which the Federal Union was based. I trust that to-day there are in Tennessee no Whigs, no Democrats; but that we are one people—all patriots, all brothers, recognizing a common interest and a common destiny; and that we will stand as one man in defence of our honor and of our rights. I pray you to cultivate a feeling of this kind, and to disseminate it amongst your constituents. It is only by such united and determined action, on the part of the people of the whole South, that we can hope to avoid the calamities of the bloodiest and most devastating civil war that has afflicted any nation in the history of the civilized world.

I trust that a few days will be amply sufficient to dispose of the business which I have laid before you. Your presence may soon be needed in the field, and if not, will be required at home for counsel among your constituents.

Trusting that an All-Wise Providence may watch over your deliberations, and direct you in the adoption of such measures as may most subserve the maintenance of the rights and liberties of the people, I submit the determination of these matters to your hands.

ISHAM G. HARRIS.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Nashville, June 18, 1861. }

Gentlemen of the Senate,
and House of Representatives :

Since your adjournment on the 9th of last month, the people of Tennessee, acting in their sovereign capacity, and in the exercise of an inalienable right, have, in the most solemn and deliberate manner dissolved their connection with the Government of the United States, and, by the adoption of the Provisional Constitution of the Confederate State of America, have made Tennessee a member of that Government.

I pause in the midst of the arduous duties which devolve upon me, to congratulate you and the country upon the near approach to unanimity, and the readiness with which the brave and patriotic people of our proud Commonwealth have severed their connection with a Government endeared to them by so many recollections, and to which they had been so long attached, but which had been subverted by gross usurpations and converted into an engine of oppression, destructive of their rights, liberties, and equality, and which in the mere wantonness of its boasted power, demands that these inalienable attributes of freemen shall be promptly, nay, basely surrendered, or maintained at the point of the bayonet.

Those who have read and comprehended the patriotic devotion of our people to the eternal principles of justice, equality, and right; their native love of independence, and their chivalrous deeds in defence of these principles, as shown by the whole history of the State, could not have doubted as to the position that Tennessee would occupy upon the presentation of such an issue.

While it is to me a source of regret that entire unanimity was not obtained at the ballot-box, in the decision of the vitally important and exciting questions referred to, I have entire confidence that now the deliberate and impartial judgment of the overwhelming majority of the people of the State having been recorded, the whole people, forgetting these differences of opinion, however earnestly and honestly entertained, will stand together as one man in maintaining the rights, honor, and dignity of Tennessee, and in preserving the domestic tranquility of the community. The time for crimination and recrimination has passed; threatened by a common enemy, imperiled by a common danger, bound together by ties which cannot be severed, we are indetical in interest, we must be so in action.

The State of Tennessee, co-operating with her sister States of the South, has been compelled to take up arms in defence of rights she could not surrender. To this war thus forced upon us, there can be but two sides. I cannot believe that there is any portion of our people who will espouse the cause of the enemies of Tennessee, or be indifferent spectators of the contest.

Impartial history will attest that no free people, jealous of their rights, have been more observant of their constitutional duties, or more loyal to their Government. Extracting no peculiar privileges, they have at all times been ready to acknowledge and maintain the rights of others. In times of common peril, they have always stood firm, and contributed their full proportion of talent, both to the cabinet and the field; and now that we have exhausted the last remedy, have made the last appeal to the reason and justice of those who would oppress us, and have been driven to the necessity of taking our rights into our own hands, and defying the power that assails them, there certainly cannot be any part of our people who will not spurn the usurper, and resist him to the last extremity.

In the midst of the gloom and privations necessarily incidental to a state of war, let us console ourselves with the reflection that we occupy the same relation to posterity that our fathers of the first revolution occupied to us.

They enjoyed the glorious privilege of establishing the great principle which secured to us civil and religious liberty, and political equality; while it is our privilege and solemn duty to maintain and transmit to posterity the same great principle unimpaired.

The spirit and determination manifested by the people of the whole South, to maintain this principle against the tyranny of usurpation, gives the highest and most cheering assurance that America will still be the abiding-place of self-government and free institutions; and proves the truth of the long disputed theory of our fathers, that a brave and enlightened people, educated in the doctrine of individual and State equality, are capable, and of right ought, to govern themselves. In the midst of Federal revolution, perfect order has been preserved in our State Government; in the moment of dissolving our former Federal fabric, another, new, and of perfect and enduring proportions, is reared, leaving us at no time without the full benefit of Government, or the security of laws.

The new relations which we have assumed, in becoming a part of the Provisional Government of the Confederate States, imposes the necessity of some additional legislation. I cheerfully submit to your consideration all questions pertaining to our Federal relations, for such legislation as may be necessary to us as a part of that Government.

There has been, for many years, a statute in the State defining the crime of treason, and prescribing the punishment.

I respectfully recommend that you amend that law, to the extent of striking out the words "United States," and insert, in lieu of them, Confederate States.

Under the provisions of the act of 1852, the principal and interest of the internal improvement bonds of the State are made payable in the city of New York. It will be impossible to pay the interest accruing, at that point, during the continuance of the war.

I recommend that you so amend the law referred to, as to require the payment at the Bank of Tennessee, at Nashville, or at Charleston or New Orleans, of all sums which may become due from the State to the people of all Governments which are on terms of peace and friendship with us, who are, and were previous to the commencement of the war, bona fide owners of our bonds; and that you adopt such policy towards the owners and holders of our bonds, who are citizens of States at war with us, as is recognized and justified by the law of nations regulating their intercourse as belligerents.

The ordeal through which the country is now passing necessarily prostrates the trade and commerce of the country, and deranges the currency to a greater or less extent. Such legislation as will tend to secure a uniform currency throughout the Confederate State is of the highest importance. I therefore submit the question to your consideration for such action as in your opinion the general welfare demands.

By the — section of the act of the 6th of May, 1861, it is made the duty of the Governor to issue bonds of the State, for the purpose of raising a fund with which to defray the expenses of the provisional army of the State. In view of the scarcity of a circulating medium, and the probable difficulty of converting any considerable amount of bonds into money in times like the present, I respectfully recommend that you so modify that act as to authorize the issuance of Treasury Notes to the extent of three-fifths of the amount authorized to be issued, in lieu of that amount of said bonds; and that the same, when issued, be made receivable by the State in payment of all taxes or government dues.

In obedience to your act of 6th May, 1861, I have caused to be organized, armed and equipped, twenty-one regiments of infantry now in the field, ten artillery companies in progress of organization, and a sufficient number of cavalry companies to compose one regiment. The organization of an engineer corps is nearly completed.

In addition to which, we have three regiments mustered into the service of the Confederate States, now in Virginia, and a number of our citizens in the service of that Government stationed at Pensacola. For full and accurate information as to the army organization, I refer you to the reports of the proper officers, hereafter to be laid before you, if desired. It is proper to remark, in this connection, that without even a call being made upon them, a much larger number of our patriotic citizens have tendered their services to the State than I have thought proper to accept. Should the necessities of the State at any time require a larger force, I feel assured that our brave and gallant people will rush with alacrity to the field, so as to swell the force to the point of equaling any such necessity.

I commend those brave and patriotic citizen soldiers to your most favorable consideration, and recommend the adoption of such measures as will most tend to promote their health and comfort while in the field.

It is proper that I call your attention to the fact that, a few days since, Return J. Meigs, Esq., resigned the office of Librarian to the State. The office is now vacant, and the duty of filling it by election devolves upon you.

I cannot, in justice to my own feelings and sense of duty, close this communication without urging upon you, and through you upon those you represent, the importance and propriety of moderation, forbearance, and conciliation in your intercourse with each other, however widely and earnestly you may have differed in your opinions and action upon the important and exciting questions so recently settled.

Invoking a continuation of the blessings of the Supreme Ruler of the universe upon our cause, our country, and our people, I submit the matter to your hands.

PUBLIC ACTS
OF THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY
OF THE
STATE OF TENNESSEE.

PASSED AT THE EXTRA SESSION OF THE THIRTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY, WHICH WAS BEGUN AND HELD AT NASHVILLE ON THURSDAY THE TWENTY-FIFTH DAY OF APRIL, IN THE YEAR ONE THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND SIXTY-ONE.

CHAPTER 1.

AN ACT to submit to a vote of the people a Declaration of Independence, and for other purposes.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That immediately after the passage of this act, the Governor of this State shall, by proclamation, direct the sheriffs of the several counties in this State to open and hold an election at the various voting precincts in their respective counties, on the 8th day of June, 1861; that said sheriffs, or in the absence of the sheriffs, the coroner of the county, shall immediately advertise the election contemplated by this act; that said sheriffs appoint a deputy to hold said election for each voting precinct, and that said deputy appoint three judges and two clerks for each precinct; and if no officer shall, from any cause, attend any voting precinct to open and hold said election, then any justice of the peace—or in the absence of a justice of the peace, any respectable freeholder may appoint an officer, judges and clerks to open and hold said election. Said officers, judges and clerks shall be sworn as now required by law, and who, after being so sworn, shall open and hold an election, open and close at the time of day, and in the manner now required by law in elections for members to the General Assembly.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That at said election the following Declaration shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified voters of the State of Tennessee, for their ratification or rejection :

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE AND ORDINANCE
DISSOLVING THE FEDERAL RELATIONS BETWEEN THE STATE OF TENNESSEE AND THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

First. We, the people of the State of Tennessee, waiving any expression of opinion as to the abstract doctrine of secession, but asserting the right, as a free and independent people, to alter, reform, or abolish, our form of Government in such manner as we think proper, do ordain and declare that all the laws and ordinances by which the State of Tennessee became a member of the Federal Union of the United States of America, are hereby abrogated and annulled, and that all obligations on our part be withdrawn therefrom ; and we do hereby resume all the rights, functions, and powers, which by any of said laws and ordinances were conveyed to the Government of the United States, and absolve ourselves from all the obligations, restraints, and duties incurred thereto ; and do hereby henceforth become a free, sovereign and independent State.

Second. We furthermore declare and ordain that Article 10, sections 1 and 2 of the Constitution of the State of Tennessee, which requires members of the General Assembly, and all officers, civil and military, to take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States be, and the same are hereby abrogated and annulled ; and all parts of the Constitution of the State of Tennessee, making citizenship of the United States a qualification for office, and recognizing the Constitution of the United States as the supreme law of this State, are in like manner abrogated and annulled.

Third. We furthermore ordain and declare, that all rights acquired and vested under the Constitution of the United States, or under any act of Congress passed in pursuance thereof, or under any laws of this State, and not incompatible with this ordinance, shall remain in force, and have the same effect as if this ordinance had not been passed.

SEC. 3. Be it further enacted, That said election shall be by ballot; that those voting for the Declaration and Ordinance shall have written or printed on their ballots, "Separation," and those voting against it shall have written or printed on their ballots, "No Separation;" that the clerks holding said election shall keep regular scrolls of the voters as now required by law in the election of members to the General Assembly; that the clerks and judges shall certify the same, with the number of votes for "Separation," and the number of votes "No Separation." The officer holding the election shall return the same to the sheriff of the county, at the county seat, on the Monday next after the election. The sheriff shall immediately make out, certify, and send to the Governor the number of votes polled, and the number of votes for "Separation," and the number "No Separation," and file one of the original scrolls with the Clerk of the County Court; that upon comparing the vote by the Governor, in the office of the Secretary of State—which shall be at least by the 24th day of June, 1861, and may be sooner if the returns are all received by the Governor—if a majority of the votes polled shall be for "Separation," the Governor shall by his proclamation make it known, and declare all connection by the State of Tennessee with the Federal Union dissolved, and that Tennessee is a free, independent Government—free from all obligation to, or connection with the Federal Government. And that the Governor shall cause 'the vote by counties' to be published, the number for "Separation," and the number "No Separation," whether a majority votes for "Separation," or "No Separation."

SEC. 4. Be it further enacted, That in the election to be held under the provisions of this act, upon the Declaration submitted to the people, all volunteers and other persons connected with the service of this State, qualified to vote for members of the Legislature in the counties where they reside, shall be entitled to vote in any county in the State where they may be in active service, or under orders, or on parole, at the time of said election; and all other voters shall vote in the county where they reside, as now required by law in voting for members to the General Assembly.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That at the same time, and under the rules and regulations prescribed for the election herein before ordered, the following ordinance shall be submitted to the popular vote, to-wit:

AN ORDINANCE FOR THE ADOPTION OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA.

We, the people of Tennessee, solemnly impressed by the perils which surround us, do hereby adopt and ratify the Constitution of the Provisional Government of the Confederate States of America, ordained and established at Montgomery, Alabama, on the 8th day of February, 1861, to be in force during the existence thereof, or until such time as we may supersede it by the adoption of a permanent Constitution.

SEC. 6. Be it further enacted, That those in favor of the adoption of said Provisional Constitution, and thereby securing to Tennessee equal representation in the deliberations and councils of the Confederate States, shall have written or printed on their ballots the word "Representation;" those opposed, the words "No Representation."

SEC. 7. Be it further enacted, That in the event the people shall adopt the Constitution of the Provisional Government of the Confederate States, at the election herein ordered, it shall be the duty of the Governor, forthwith to issue writs of election for delegates to represent the State of Tennessee in the said Provisional Government; that the State shall be represented by as many delegates as it was entitled to members of Congress to the recent Congress of the United States of America, who shall be elected from the several Congressional Districts as now established by law, in the mode and manner now prescribed for the election of members of the Congress of the United States.

SEC. 8. Be it further enacted, That this act take effect from and after its passage.

CHAPTER 2.

MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Nashville May 7, 1861. }

*Gentlemen of the Senate
and House of Representatives.*

By virtue of the authority of your joint resolution, adopted on the 1st day of May inst., I appointed Gustavus A. Henry, of the county of Montgomery, Archibald O. W. Totton, of the county of Madison, and Washington Barrow, of the county of Davidson, "Commissioners on the part of Tennessee, to enter into a Military League with the authorities of the Confederate States, and with the authorities of such other slaveholding States as may wish to enter into it, having in view the protection and defence of the entire South against the war that is now being carried on against it."

The said Commissioners met the Hon. Henry W. Hilliard, the accredited representative of the Confederate States, at Nashville on this day, and have agreed upon and executed a Military League between the State of Tennessee and the Confederate States of America, subject, however, to the ratification of the two Governments; one of the duplicate originals of which I herewith transmit for your ratification or rejection. For many cogent and obvious reasons, unnecessary to be rehearsed to you, I respectfully recommend the ratification of this League at the earliest practicable moment.

Very respectfully,

ISHAM G. HARRIS.

CONVENTION BETWEEN THE STATE OF TENNESSEE
AND THE CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA.

The State of Tennessee looking to a speedy admission into the Confederacy established by the Confederate States of America, in accordance with the Constitution for the Provisional Government of said States, enters into the following temporary Convention, Agreement and Military League, with the Confederate States, for the purpose of meeting pressing exigencies affecting the common rights, interests, and safety of said States, and said Confederacy.

First. Until the said State shall become a member of said Confederacy according to the Constitution of both powers, the whole military force, and military operations, offensive and defensive of said State, in the impending conflict with the United States, shall be under the chief control and direction of the President of the Confederate States, upon the same basis, principles and footing, as if said State were now, and during the interval a member of said Confederacy, said force, together with that of the Confederate States, to be employed for the common defence.

Second. The State of Tennessee will, upon becoming a member of said Confederacy under the Permanent Constitution of said Confederate States, if the same shall occur, turn over to said Confederate States, all the public property acquired from the United States, on the same terms, and in the same manner as the other States of said Confederacy have done in like cases.

Third. Whatever expenditures of money, if any, the said State of Tennessee shall make before she becomes a member of said Confederacy, shall be met and provided for by the Confederate States.

This Convention entered into and agreed, in the city of Nashville, Tennessee, on the seventh day of May, A. D., 1861, by Henry W. Hilliard, the duly authorized commissioner, to act in the matter of the Confederate States, and Gustavus A. Henry, Archibald O. W. Totton, and Washington Barrow, commissioners duly authorized to act in like manner for the State of Tennessee—the whole subject to the approval and ratification of the proper authorities of both Governments respectively.

In testimony whereof, the parties aforesaid have herewith set their hands and seals, the day and year aforesaid, in duplicate originals.

HENRY W. HILLIARD, [SEAL.]

Commissioner for the Confederate States of America.

GUSTAVUS A. HENRY, [SEAL.]

A. O. W. TOTTEN, [SEAL.]

WASHINGTON BARROW, [SEAL.]

Commissioners on the part of Tennessee.

JOINT RESOLUTION RATIFYING THE LEAGUE.

WHEREAS, A military league, offensive and defensive, was formed on the 7th of May, 1861, by and between A. O. W. Totton, Gustavus A. Henry, and Washington Barrow, Commissioners on the part of the State of Tennessee, and H. W. Hilliard, Commissioner on the part of the Confederate States of America, subject to the confirmation of the two Governments;

Be it therefore resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That said league be in all respects ratified and confirmed, and the said General Assembly hereby pledges the faith and honor of the State of Tennessee to the faithful observance of the terms and conditions of said league.

W. C. WHITTHORNE,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

B. L. STOVALL,

Speaker of the Senate.

Adopted May 7, 1861.

CHAPTER 3.

AN ACT to Raise, Organize and Equip a Provisional Force, and for other purposes.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That it shall be the duty of the Governor of the State to raise, organize and equip a provisional force of volunteers, for the defence of the State, to consist of fifty-five thousand volunteers—twenty-five thousand of whom, or any less number which the wants of the service may demand, shall be fitted for the field at the earliest practicable moment, and the remainder of which shall be held in reserve, ready to march at short notice. And should it become necessary for the safety of the State, the Governor may call out the whole available military strength of the State.

Banks may class bonds as cash.

State may pay banks for bonds in their notes.

SEC. 11. Be it further enacted, That banks and branches purchasing said bonds from the Governor, shall have the privilege of classing the bonds so purchased, in the classification of their assets, as specie funds; and that the banks of the State are hereby authorized to invest their means in said bonds; Provided, That the State shall have the right to pay said bonds so purchased and held by said banks in their own notes; and individuals owning said bonds, having purchased the same previously of the State, shall hold the same free from taxation, either State, county, or otherwise.

Supervisor's reports omitted.

SEC. 12. Be it further enacted, That in order to save expenses, so much of the act of the late extra session of the Legislature as requires the Supervisor to make monthly publications of bank movements, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

Forces, when to be discharged.

SEC. 13. Be it further enacted, That when peace shall be restored to the country, or the present danger pass away, that the Governor of the State, or other rightful authority under which said force may be at the time acting, shall issue a proclamation declaring the fact, and shall thereafter discharge the forces raised under this act, and from and after which this act shall cease to be in force.

County taxes for volunteers' families.

Fund applied in same county.

SEC. 14. Be it further enacted, That the County Courts of this State are empowered to assess and collect a tax on property and privileges in their respective counties, to provide a fund for the relief and support of families of volunteers whilst in actual service, when, from affliction or indigence, it may be necessary; Provided, That the said fund thus raised shall, in all cases, be expended for the benefit of the families of volunteers residing in the county where the same is raised; and the revenue collector, for collecting said tax, shall receive no compensation; and the same shall be paid by him, under order of the County Court, to the persons to whom the same may be appropriated.

SEC. 15. Be it further enacted, That the County Courts be authorized to issue county scrip, anticipating the tax necessary in effecting the objects of the preceding section.

County Courts may issue scrip.

SEC. 16. Be it further enacted, That the County Courts of this State are authorized and empowered to appoint and raise, semi-annually, a Home Guard of Minute Men, whose term of service shall be three months, in their respective limits, to consist of companies of not less than ten for each Civil District, whose officers, when elected by the companies respectively, shall be commissioned by the County Courts, and whose duty it shall be to procure a warrant from some justice of the peace, and arrest all suspected persons and bring them before the civil authorities for trial; to see that all slaves are disarmed; to prevent the assemblage of slaves in unusual numbers; to keep the slave population in proper subjection, and to see that peace and order is observed. The Home Guard of Minute Men shall be armed and equipped by each county at its own expense, and a tax may be assessed and collected for the purpose, as well as to compensate those engaged in this branch of duty, if, in their discretion, compensation should be made. The Home Guard shall assemble in their respective Districts, to take precautionary measures, at least once in each week, at the call of the commanding officer, and shall be momentarily ready for service at his call. Persons engaged in this branch of duty shall, upon failure to obey the call to duty by the commander, forfeit not less than one dollar nor more than five for each offence—to be collected in the name of the Chairman of the County Court, before any justice of the peace—to be applied by the County Court in defraying the expenses of this branch of the public service; unless such failure was the result of sickness or other good cause. A General Commander shall be appointed for each county by the several County Courts, whose duty it shall be, when necessary, to take charge of all the Home Guard Minute Men in his county, and direct their operations. And the County Court is authorized to issue county bonds or scrip, for the purpose of raising money immediately to meet the expenses contemplated by this section.

County Courts may appoint Minute Men.

CHAPTER 25.

AN ACT to authorize the Banks of Tennessee to receive and pay out the Treasury Notes of the Confederate States, and for other purposes.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That it shall be lawful for the Banks of this State to receive and pay out the Treasury notes of the Confederate States of America, issued in pursuance of an act passed by the Provisional Government of said States on the — day of May, 1861.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That all officers of the State are authorized to accept said Treasury notes in payment of moneys due the State and the several counties thereof; and that they are authorized to receive in payment of moneys due the State and the several counties thereof, the circulation of the Banks of this State which conform to the Bank Code of Tennessee and the acts amendatory thereof.

SEC. 3. Be it further enacted, That the Banks of this State which are subject to the provisions of the Bank Code, (the Bank of Tennessee being included,) shall resume specie payment simultaneously; and it is hereby expressly declared that it shall not be lawful for one of the Banks to resume specie payment in advance of another.

SEC. 4. Be it further enacted, That the policy of the Banks of Tennessee in retiring and diminishing their circulation, is detrimental to the public interest; and that they be required to reverse their policy and increase their circulation, so as to answer the public want; Provided, however, That such increased circulation shall not exceed two dollars for one of paid capital stock.

Banks to increase their circulation.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That so much of section 1 of an act passed on the 31st day of January, 1861, as fixes the time for the Banks therein named to resume specie payment by the 1st of July, 1862, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. Be it further enacted, That it shall not be lawful for any Bank in this State, either directly or indirectly, to pay dividends due to stockholders who are citizens of the non-slaveholding States of the United States of America. This prohibition shall continue during the existence of the war which the Federal Government of said States of America is waging against the Confederate States of America, and if any officer of any Bank in this State, or the agent or attorney thereof, shall violate the provisions of this act, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction, shall be imprisoned not less than twelve months, and fined not less than one thousand dollars. For the purposes of this section, the ownership shall be determined by the books of the Bank as they stood on the 15th day of April, 1861.

Dividends not to be paid.

SEC. 7. Be it further enacted, That it shall not be lawful to pay the interest on the bonds of the State of Tennessee, or other bonds upon which the State may be liable, if said bonds were held and owned on the 15th day of April, 1861, by citizens of the non-slaveholding States of the United States of America, or by any corporation of said States, the day named being the date of President Lincoln's proclamation calling for seventy-five thousand volunteers for the subjugation of the South; nor shall it be lawful to pay the principal, or any part thereof, of said bonds. This prohibition shall continue during the existence of the war which the United States of America are waging against the Confederate States of America; and at the close of the war, the debt, principal and interest, shall stand subject to adjustment and accommodation between the two Governments, upon such equitable basis as shall be in accordance with the usage and practice of civilized nations.

Interest on State bonds.

SEC. 8. Be it further enacted, That it shall not be law

ful for citizens or corporations of the State to pay debts which they may owe to corporations or citizens of the non-slaveholding States of the United States of America, during the war now in progress, and the payment of said debts shall stand for adjustment and accommodation at the close of the war, upon the principles stated in section 7 of this act; and it shall not be lawful for any person, by pretended assignment or otherwise, to represent himself as owner of any debts thus due, and in that manner evade the provisions of this act; and an assignment of any of said debts since the commencement of hostilities shall be prima facie evidence that it was done to evade this act. It is in like manner made illegal for any agent or attorney to pay over moneys which may now be collected, or which may hereafter be collected, for the citizens and corporations of said non-slaveholding States, and this prohibition shall continue during the war, and in no event shall the State of Tennessee become liable for debts of any individual debtor of the State, unless said debtor shall have paid the amount thereof into the Treasury of the State.

SEC. 9. Be it further enacted, That a violation of sections 7 and 8 of this act, shall subject the offending party, on conviction, to imprisonment at the discretion of the court, and to a fine equal in amount to the sum paid.

Assets of Banks
not to be removed.

SEC. 10. Be it further enacted, That it shall not be lawful for any Bank, or the officer or agent thereof, to remove from this State the assets, or any of the assets of any Bank in this State, for the benefit of stockholders who may be citizens of the non-slaveholding States of the United States of America, and this prohibition shall continue during the existence of the war in progress. If any Bank officer shall, directly or indirectly, violate the provisions of this section, he shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction, be sentenced to imprisonment in the State Penitentiary for a period of not less than five, nor more than ten years.

Interest
bonds.

SEC. 11. Be it further enacted, That the interest on all bonds of the State, or upon which the State may be liable, held by the citizens or corporations of friendly powers, shall be paid at Nashville, Charleston or New Orleans, at the discretion of the Comptroller of the State; and it shall be the duty of the various railroad companies to pay the interest required of them into the hands of the Treasurer; Provided, Said bonds were bona fide, held and owned by such citizens and corporations on the 15th day of April, 1861, and that fact is made to appear to the satisfaction of the Comptroller of the State by the affidavit of the party demanding payment, and proof of the fact, if desired by the Comptroller, or upon the establishment of the fact in such other manner as shall be satisfactory to said officer. The Comptroller shall advertise at which of said points the interest on said bonds will be met; Provided further, If any of said bonds shall be owned bona fide by a citizen of the Confederate States, and the same is held by a guardian or agent in the non-slaveholding States, the interest shall be paid as provided in this section; Provided, The same shall be paid to the owner of said bonds, or to a duly authorized agent, attorney or guardian, being a citizen of the Confederate States.

SEC. 12. Be it further enacted, That the four first words, "at their first meeting," of the seventh section, eleventh line, of an act passed February 27, 1856, chapter 210, be, and the same are hereby repealed.

SEC. 13. Be it further enacted, That this act take effect from and after its passage.

W. C. WHITTHORNE,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

B. L. STOVALL,
Speaker of the Senate.

Passed July 1, 1861.

CHAPTER 26.

AN ACT to submit to the popular vote an Ordinance for the adoption or rejection of the Permanent Constitution of the Confederate States.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That at the next regular election in the State for Governor and members of the General Assembly, the following ordinance shall be submitted to the popular vote, to-wit: An Ordinance for the adoption of the Permanent Constitution of the Confederate States of America, by the State of Tennessee: We, the people of the State of Tennessee, in the exercise of our inalienable and indefeasible right to alter, reform, or abolish the government under which we live, in such manner as we may think proper, do ratify and adopt the Constitution of the Confederate States of America, prepared and submitted for ratification and adoption by the Provisional Congress of the Confederate States, at Montgomery, Alabama, on the 11th day of March, 1861, and do, by our sovereign will, ordain and constitute the State of Tennessee a member of the Government established by the said Constitution.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That those in favor of the adoption of said Constitution shall have written or printed on their tickets the words, "For the Permanent Constitution;" those opposed to its adoption shall have written or printed on their tickets the words, "Against the Permanent Constitution."

Ballots.

Governor's duty.

SEC. 3. Be it further enacted, That if a majority of the votes shall be cast for the adoption of said Constitution, the Governor shall announce the fact by proclamation, and declare that the State of Tennessee, by virtue of the sovereign will of her people, has become a member of the Government of the Confederate States, established by the Permanent Constitution thereof; and if the majority of the votes cast shall be opposed, then he shall in like manner announce the result.

Sheriffs' duty.

SEC. 4. Be it enacted, That the said election shall be advertised by the sheriffs of the several counties of the State, for the same period that they advertise the election for Governor and members of the General Assembly, and said election shall be held at the same places, and opened and closed at the same time with election for Governor and members of the General Assembly.

Qualification of voters.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That all persons entitled to vote for Governor and members of the General Assembly, shall be qualified to vote in said election, and that all volunteers in actual service, and officers of the army, may vote in any county in the State where the service may require them to be at that time; Provided, that if in their proper counties they would be entitled to vote.

Volunteers.

SEC. 6. Be it further enacted, That all volunteers in actual service out of the limits of the State, on the day of election, but who, if in their proper counties, would be entitled to vote, shall be entitled to vote in said election, and to provide them the means of voting, it is made the duty of the Captains of the companies to which they may belong, on the day of the election, to open and hold an election for them. They shall vote by ballot, and the result shall be returned in writing to the Secretary of State, and constitute part of the vote of the State; but before opening said election, each Captain shall be sworn by the Colonel or Lieutenant Colonel of his regiment, to act impartially, and to receive no illegal votes.

SEC. 7. Be it further enacted, That the sheriffs of the several counties shall certify the result of said election to the Secretary of State, in the same manner he certifies the election for Governor and members of the General Assembly.

SEC. 8. Be it further enacted, That in the event any sheriff shall refuse to hold the election herein ordered, then the same may be opened and held by any constable or justice of the peace thereof; and if no constable or justice of the peace will hold the same, then any qualified voter may open and hold the same.

W. C. WHITTHORNE,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

B. L. STOVALL,
Speaker of the Senate.

Passed June 28, 1861.

PRIVATE ACTS.

CHAPTER 1.

AN ACT for the manufacture of Fire-Arms, Gunpowder, &c.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That the County Court of Giles county be authorized to assess and collect a tax in said county, for the manufacture of fire-arms, gunpowder and other munitions of war necessary for mutual defence and safety.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That said tax shall be assessed upon the taxable property in said county, under the rules and regulations prescribed for the collection of the State and county tax.

SEC. 3. Be it further enacted, That Thomas E. Jenkins and William McGill, be, and they are hereby incorporated as the American Letter Express Company, for the sole purpose of conveying letters and printed matter from points within to points without the boundaries of the State of Tennessee.

Letter Express
Company.

SEC. 4 Be it further enacted, That the capital stock of said company shall be five hundred dollars ($500,) more or less, as may be necessary to carry out the objects of the company; so soon as the said sum shall have been subscribed, the said parties before mentioned are hereby incorporated by the name of the American Letter Express Company, and by that name shall be capable, in law, of purchasing, holding, selling, leasing and conveying estates, real and personal, and mixed, so far as the same may be necessary, for the purposes of said corporation, to conduct the business to the advantage of the stockholders, and the satisfaction of the community, and by said corporate name may sue and be sued, and shall exercise all the powers, rights and privileges which other corporate bodies may lawfully do, for the purposes mentioned in this act.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to give banking privileges to said company, and nothing herein contained shall exonerate the stockholders, or any one of them, in said incorporated company, from individual liability upon all contracts or debts of any and every description whatever, which may be entered into by said company.

Nashville Gun Factory.

SEC. 6. Be it further enacted, That Irby Morgan, John O. Ewing, John M. Bass, William B. Dortch, J. M. Hamilton, G. W. Donigan and Mason Vannoy, of Davidson county, be, and are hereby incorporated under the name and style of the Nashville Gun Factory, for the purpose of manufacturing guns, pistols, swords, and other implements of war. That they shall be entitled to all the privileges of a corporate company, have and use a common seal, pass by-laws, &c. The capital stock of said company shall range from three thousand to fifty thousand dollars, divided into shares of twenty dollars ($20.)

SEC. 7. Be it further enacted, That books may be opened in Nashville, and elsewhere, for subscription, by the commissioners aforesaid, and when the sum of three thousand dollars is subscribed, the company shall be considered as formed; they may then elect a President and two directors, by the votes of the stockholders, who shall hold office for one year, and be elected annually by the stockholders; each share is entitled to one vote. The directors may appoint a superintendent, and any other necessary officers; the stock shall be paid in money, on calls made by the directors; individuals or corporations may subscribe and own stock.

SEC. 8. Be it further enacted, That the directors may buy, lease or rent real estate sufficient to carry on their business, and give notes, and incur corporate liabilities for the same, and for machinery, raw materials, old weapons, or anything else connected with their business.

SEC. 9. Be it further enacted, That this charter shall be available, and in force, for thirty years. The stocks transferable on the books of the company, have power to sue and be sued, and all other privileges and rights incident to a manufacturing company.

Middle Tennessee Insurance Company.

SEC. 10. Be it further enacted, That an act incorporating the Middle Tennessee Insurance Company, and for other purposes, passed March 24, 1860, be amended as follows, touching the Energetic Insurance Company of Nashville, be changed to that of the Confederacy Insurance Company.

Courts.

SEC. 11. Be it further enacted, That in regard to the courts mentioned in section No. 49, Courts of the Confederate States of America be added thereto; and that wherever, in other sections, the name Nashville occurs, Memphis shall be substituted therefor.

SEC. 12. Be it further enacted, That after the words, "either by mortgage or mortgages of real estate," as occurring in section No. 50, the words, "county or State bonds of the Confederate States of America," be added.

SEC. 13. Be it further enacted, That Joseph Nash, Benjamin F. Dill and Franc. M. Paul, or a majority of them, are hereby substituted instead of the persons named in section No. 49, to open books of subscription to the capital stock of the company, and to proceed in the organization thereof.

SEC. 14. Be it further enacted, That Jno. L. Bridges and R. C. Jackson, and their associates, be incorporated under the name and style of the Athens Express Company, with the same capital stock, and for the same purposes, and with the same restriction, as provided for the American Letter Express Company.

Athens Express
Company.

SEC. 15. Be it further enacted, That this act take effect from and after its passage.

W. C. WHITTHORNE,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

B. L. STOVALL,

Speaker of the Senate.

Passed June 28, 1861.

CHAPTER 2.

AN ACT to amend the Charter of the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad Company.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That the charter of the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad Company be, and the same is hereby so amended that each stockholder in said road is hereby authorized, in person or by proxy, to cast one vote for each share which he, she, or they may hold of the stock in said road.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That the aforesaid East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad Company is hereby authorized to charge and collect for freights over said road, per mile, the same charges which are authorized on the East Tennessee and Georgia Railroad, and no more.

W. C. WHITTHORNE,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

B. L. STOVALL,

Speaker of the Senate.

Passed June 29, 1861.

CHAPTER 3.

AN ACT to incorporate Powell's River Lead Mining Company, and for other purposes

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That Alexander E. Smith and John Caldwell, and their associates, are hereby constituted a body politic and corporate, under the name and style of the Powell's River Lead Mining Company, for the purposes of exploring and mining for lead, silver, and other minerals, and for working, smelting, manufacturing, and vending the same; and to continue to them and their successors for the period of ninety-nine years; with power to make and use a common seal, and to change the same at pleasure; to make such by-laws, not inconsistent with the laws of this State and of the Confederate States, as it may be deemed proper and necessary for its government; in its corporate name to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded; to hold by purchase or otherwise any real or personal property which may be useful or necessary for carrying on its operations, or which it may become possessed of in payment of debts, to-wit: Provided, that the just cost of such real estate shall not exceed the maximum amount of capital stock hereinafter provided for.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That the capital stock of said Company shall not be less than one hundred thousand dollars, and not more than one million dollars, to be divided into shares of not less than ten dollars each. The amount of capital stock, the number and price of shares, shall be fixed and agreed upon by the incorporators at their first meeting under this act; nothing but money or mineral property shall be regarded as a basis for capital stock; the stock to be subscribed and paid for as the Board of Directors may prescribe; the stock shall be considered personal property, and be transferable only on the books of the Company or by attorney.

SEC. 3. Be it further enacted, That the corporators named in the first section of this act shall be the Directors for the first year, and until others are elected in their stead. The annual meetings of the Company shall be held at such times and places as the Board of Directors may determine from year to year—twenty days' notice being given of the time and place of such meeting. At each annual meeting a Board of Directors shall be chosen for the ensuing year; but in case of failure to elect a Board of Directors, the charter of this Company shall not be forfeited thereby, but the Directors of the previous year shall continue in office until others are elected in their stead. The Directors shall appoint one of their number President, and shall appoint such other officers and agents as they may deem proper, and affix their salaries.

SEC. 4. Be it further enacted, That all the stockholders not having paid their stock according to the terms of subscription, shall be individually liable to the creditors of the Company, to the amount so remaining unpaid; and in like manner shall the Directors be individually liable for any amount they may declare and authorize to be paid to the stockholders as dividends. When the Company shall be unable to pay all the debts due by it, to avoid such liability on his part, the dissenting Director shall enter, or cause to be entered in the minutes of the Board his dissent thereto, within thirty days after such dividend shall have been authorized.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That the said Company shall not contract any debts over and above the capital stock paid in; no part of which shall be withdrawn, or in any way or manner diverted from the business of the Company, without the consent of three-fourths in interest of the stockholders.

SEC. 6. Be it further enacted, That in order to the more effectually carrying on the business of the Company, it shall have power, and is hereby authorized to construct a dam across Powell's river, at such point near their mine as may best promote their interest: Provided, said dam shall be so constructed as to allow the free passage of flatboats and rafts down such river.

SEC. 7. Be it further enacted, That in order to encourage home enterprize, and promote the development of the resources of this State, the Governor and the Military and Financial Board are hereby authorized to contract with said Company for such amount of lead as they may deem proper.

Cove Lead Mining Co.

SEC. 8. Be it further enacted, That A. Jackson, W. B. Deaderick, and N. T. Jackson and their associates be, and they are hereby constituted a body corporate and politic, by the name and style of the Bumpass Cove Lead Mining Company, with all the powers and privileges, and subject to the same liabilities and restrictions as are conferred and imposed upon the Powell's River Lead Mining Company.

Saltpetre Co.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That William H. Caruthers, William Phillips, Daniel Lowe, and such other persons as they may associate with them, are hereby incorporated under the name and style of the Hickman County Saltpetre Company, for the purpose of manufacturing saltpetre, and shall have all the powers of the foregoing corporations, so far as applicable to their business.

SEC. 10. Be it enacted, That this act take effect from and after its passage.

W. C. WHITTHORNE,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

B. L. STOVALL,

Speaker of the Senate.

Passed May 7, 1861.

CHAPTER 4.

AN ACT to incorporate the Confederate Paper Mill Company.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That Benjamin F. Dill, Henry D. Small, G. P. Foote, and J. O. Greenlaw, of the county of Shelby, and State of Tennessee, and their associates and successors be, and they are hereby created a body politic and corporate, by the name and style of the Confederate Paper Mill Company, with full right and power to sue and be sued, to hold real and personal property in their corporate capacity, to have a common seal, to transfer stock, and to do and perform all acts, and transact all business in any wise appertaining to the manufacture of paper of all kinds.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That the capital stock of said company shall be twenty-five thousand dollars, in shares of one thousand dollars each, which said capital stock may be increased to fifty thousand dollars by the vote of a majority of the stockholders, at any time after the organization: Provided, That in this, and in all other votes and elections requiring stockholders to vote, and a majority of all shall govern.

SEC. 3. Be it further enacted, That if the stockholders so determine by vote, as aforesaid, the machinery of said company, or any other machinery which they may purchase, may be used with all the privileges herein granted, for any other manufacturing purpose whatsoever. The said company shall have power to declare dividends, make its own by-laws, elect a Directory, President, and Secretary and Treasurer, and such other officers as may be necessary; it shall have the power to borrow money, and said corporation shall have the power to issue its bonds, running not more than five years, and bearing eight per cent. interest per annum, to an amount not exceeding fifteen thousand dollars, upon which to borrow money for the purpose aforesaid. But said company shall not incur liabilities of any kind over and above the amount of capital stock at any time, and in the event of its so doing, the stockholders shall be liable for the excess of such liability, in proportion of the stock held by each.

SEC. 4. Be it further enacted, That said company shall have a corporate existence of thirty years. This act to take effect from and after its passage.

NUMBER 13.

Joint Resolution protesting against the interception of Free Navigation of the Mississippi.

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That we receive with profound regret, intelligence of the facts that an armed force, under orders from the Government of Illinois, is stationed at Cairo, with intentions to interfere, unlawfully, with the free navigation of the Mississippi, and the commander of said force, in obedience to orders from the Governor of Illinois, has unlawfully detained a boat and cargo, the property of citizens of Tennessee, in violation of the rights of the people of this State, dangerous to the peaceful relations, and destructive of the best interests of the people of the State respectively.

2. In view of this unlawful detention and seizure of the property and effects of citizens of Tennessee, and usurpation of authority, in obstructing the free navigation of the Mississippi, we most solemnly reiterate the declaration of rights of the people of Tennessee, that the equal participation of the free navigation of the Mississippi is one of the inherent rights of the citizens of this State, it cannot, therefore, be conceded to any power, potentate, prince, person or persons whatever, and in vindication of this right, we pledge our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

Resolved further, That the Governor transmit a copy of the above resolution to the Governor of Illinois, and also to the President of the United States.
